LETTER FROM THE DISTRICT SUPERIOR

My dear brethren,

The meeting of the Society’s superiors took place at Albano on 7-8th October as announced in last month’s newsletter, and Bishop Fellay did indeed use this opportunity to discuss the ‘Doctrinal Preamble’ text as received from Cardinal Levada on 14th September.

The first day of the meeting covered three issues: an overview of the contacts with Rome since 1987; a summary of the doctrinal discussions; and an oral exposition of the Doctrinal Preamble document itself.

With regard to the doctrinal talks it was disappointing to note that the Roman commission failed to acknowledge the break between traditional and conciliar teachings. Instead it insisted upon the ‘hermeneutic (interpretation) of continuity,’ stating that the new teachings included and improved the old!

It was interesting to learn that the 14th September meeting had not touched upon the doctrinal talks at all, but rather was dedicated to expounding possible practical solutions for the Society.

So it was perhaps not surprising to learn that the proposed doctrinal basis for any canonical agreement in fact contained all those elements which the Society has consistently rejected, including acceptance of the New Mass and of Vatican II as expressed in the New Catechism. Indeed, the document itself conveys the impression that there is no crisis in the Church...

Hence the stated consensus of those in attendance was that the Doctrinal Preamble was clearly unacceptable and that the time has certainly not come to pursue any practical agreement as long as the doctrinal issues remain outstanding. It also agreed that the Society should continue its work of insisting upon the doctrinal questions in any contacts with the Roman authorities.

In many ways we can see the hand of Providence in this meeting, falling as it did on the Feast of the Holy Rosary, given the clarification of Rome’s persistence in the modern errors, and the consequent necessity of continuing with the fight against modernism through fidelity to Catholic Tradition.

The second day of the meeting was dedicated to its original theme, that of communications and the media.

The Assisi III meeting is taking place on the very day I write these few lines, at which occasion we are holding a day of reparation here at St George’s House, with all-day exposition of the Blessed Sacrament. The scandal of this inter-religious gathering can be resumed into three points:

- i/ It commemorates and celebrates the scandal of Assisi I;
  - ii/ It replaces the Faith with religious liberty as the means to obtain world peace;
  - iii/ It promotes on a practical level relativism and religious indifference.

For other news:

St Michael's School twentieth celebration on 15th October was a great success with many past and present families, staff, and pupils gathering together for the occasion. In particular, special thanks are due to Father Patrick Summers, for his very capable and dedicated headship these past five years, ably assisted and abetted by Father Gary Holden, the house-master (and enthusiastic Cadet Commander!), as well as to Sister Mary Elisabeth for her devotion and commitment to the work of primary and junior education. Ad multos annos!

Our six-day pilgrimage to Rome at the end of September went well also, thanks in no small part to the assistance of the group coordinator Mr John Wetherall. The event ended with the Holy Mass in St Peter's Basilica celebrated on St Pius X's tomb. We were delighted that Father Edward Black was able to join us for the duration from Australia, in anticipation of the Albano meeting.

The late Miss Joan Proctor of Leighton Buzzard, who died earlier this year, has left the Society an important legacy, and in addition to requesting grateful prayers for the repose of her soul, I would be interested in receiving any useful information so as to compile her obituary for the Mater Dei magazine.

Similarly, we are indebted to the late Mrs Patricia Kingon-Rousse of Herne Bay whose bequeathed property now allows the Fathers to have a base for their apostolate there. May she rest in peace.

I am looking forward to blessing St Andrew's House new oratory chapel later this month in Carlisle. Meanwhile renovations works continue both at St Mary's House, Preston, as well as at our new Church of SS Peter and Paul in Liverpool.

Whilst remembering the Holy souls in our prayers, Masses and visits to the cemetery, let us invoke their powerful intercession also for all our intentions,

Father Paul Morgan
Superior

Press Release from the General House of the Priestly Society of St Pius X

On October 7, 2011, a meeting of all those in charge of the Society of St Pius X was held in Albano, Italy, during which the Superior General, H. E. Bishop Bernard Fellay, presented the content of the Doctrinal Preamble, handed over to him by Cardinal William Levada, Prefect of the Congregation of the Doctrine of the Faith, at the Vatican, during last September 14 meeting.

During this day, the twenty-eight persons in charge of the Society of St Pius X present at the meeting – seminary rectors, district superiors from all over the world – manifested a profound unity in their will to maintain the Faith in its integrity and its fullness, faithful to the lesson which Archbishop Marcel Lefebvre left them, according to St Paul's "Tradidi quod et accepi – I have handed over what I myself have received" (I Cor 15:3).

Following this work meeting, the study of the Doctrinal Preamble – of which the content still remains confidential – will be pursued and further analysed at the level of the General Counsel of the Society of St Pius X, by the Superior General and his two Assistants, Frs. Niklaus Pfluger and Alain Nely, enabling them to present an answer to the Roman proposals in a reasonable time.

Do's and Don't's

- * If you know of fallen-away Catholics in your neighbourhood, inform your Pastor about them. A word or visit from him may be all that is needed to bring them back to the faith..
- * If a non-Catholic shows interest in the Catholic faith, offer to accompany him on a visit to a Priest. Don't just send him.
- * When you meet Priests or Sisters on the street, be the one to give the first greeting. They themselves must be prudent about whom they address.
- * If you have even ordinary ability as a singer, offer to help out in the choir of your parish. Men are especially needed and welcome.
- * Do not deprive your child of the necessary benefits of Catholic school training because you fear you cannot afford it. Have a talk with your Pastor about it. Your child must not be harmed by a secular education and it is the duty of your Pastor and parish to see that the child receives a full Catholic education.
- * Do not take sides against the Sister in school in questions involving the discipline of your child. Go to the Sister and talk the matter over. In doubtful situations, you may have recourse to the Pastor. Do not talk against the Sisters to your neighbours and above all, do not encourage any opposition to the Sisters in your child.

Seriously dear reader, it really could be that cheap and that easy to secure your place in heaven. Myself, a long time married mother of 6 and Nanny Pat to 4, a young Portuguese Mother of 3, Maria and a well educated young lady of 26, Miriam (so quite different types really) have just completed an Ignatian retreat at St Saviours house, and we are all firmly agreed how very beneficial it has been. Now while I have known about the exercises for some time I felt they were possibly intended for serious adults and maybe even brainy people and as I am not either of those and a bit of a scaredy cat I left them well alone. I had recently been feeling in dire need of a bit of a life and faith fix but I was hoping that something a little more in my comfort zone would present it self. Two of my daughters who had previously been on these exercises had been urging me to do them, and I must admit I had witnessed first hand how their lives had changed for the better both spiritual and temporal. I then heard that this flight was in danger of being cancelled and I knew deep down there was a seat with my name on it and that it was exactly what I needed. So with great apprehension I booked my ticket. I realised very quickly that this could be a life changing ride and for a little while I almost felt like pulling the safety on my ejection seat but in reality I knew, I most definitely needed to be on board. We all have times in our lives when things are not quite right and our faith needs a bit of reinforcement. I cannot stress enough how much you can learn about yourself and your faith in a few short days. We all had plenty of one-to-one consultation time with the priests who incidentally firmly believe every person and their soul is unique and as such they tailor make the treatment and in the case of these 3 souls they got it absolutely perfect. I faced some of my fears and made a general confession; although this is not pre-requisite I believe most people are given the grace to want a fresh start. After having a pretty colourful RAF past, this seemed quite daunting, (though the priests are very reassuring that they have heard it all before) however, ordeal over, the rush of both relief and peace was very rewarding, it was so worth it. The different phases of the retreat teach you so much about our wonderful religion that you really do want to be a better Catholic as you are increasingly faced with God's goodness at every moment. You would need a heart of stone not to experience great emotion at the various consolations you can receive during these exercises. Well all too soon our 5 days of leaving the outside world to get on with it, was over. There we were a bit giddy (not sure why really, maybe a bit of nervous excitement,) having a celebratory lunch with Father and a nice glass of red (yes abstinence really does make the heart grow fonder). I arrived home to flowers, a clean house and a husband happy to see me. Remind me just why had I been avoiding this? Well I can't guarantee you flowers or a clean house, but I can absolutely guarantee you will not regret it, and that you will be very much better off in every way for having completed this retreat. Thanks for listening.

Our Lady of Good Success Pilgrimage
to Quito, Ecuador with Father Paul Kimball, SSPX
26 May 2012 to 4 June 2012

In the 1600's, Our Lady appeared to a Conceptionist Sister; Mother Mariana de Jesus Torres in Quito, Ecuador. Our Lady greeted her saying "I am Mary of Good Success, the one whom you have invoked with such tender affection. Your prayer has greatly pleased me...your faith has brought me here. Your love invited me to visit you". Our Lady stated that it was her wish to be made known to the Conceptionist Convent in Quito and the rest of the world as "Our Lady of Good Success". She foretold that the Church would be in a state of crisis in the twentieth century. Our Lady asked Mother Mariana to be a victim soul for this particular time.

Our Lady requested that a statue be made of Her as Our Lady of Good Success. This was carried out and it is today the subject of great veneration and many miracles have ensued. In foretelling the chaos in the twentieth century, particularly amongst the Clergy, the Virgin said: "Many Priests will loose their spirit..... placing their souls in grave danger..... they will stray from the road traced by God for the priestly ministry.....implore our Celestial Father.....that He might take pity on His ministers and bring to an end those ominous times and send to the Church the Prelate who will restore the spirit of its Priests". Many now understand that prelate to have been Archbishop Lefebvre.

During the Pilgrimage, many of the Churches and places associated with the venerable Mariana and the miraculous statue, as well as Garcia Moreno will be visited. There will be daily Mass and The Rosary.

The estimated cost, including air flights from London and two meals per day will be:

£1,600 per person sharing a room

£1,800 for a single room

Servers’ Corner

It occasionally happens that, when entering into the church for the beginning of Mass, one’s thoughts turn towards pagan gods and ancient religions... upon receiving a fistful of dripping holy water from the altar server...

The libation ceremony is a practice which dates back to ancient times and it is still performed in pagan religions to this day.

In the ancient religions it consisted in the ritual pouring of some special liquid, such as wine, honey, perfume or olive oil, in honour of the gods or spirits or the deceased. The liquid would be poured onto an article of religious significance, or even onto the ground itself in honour of the Earth.

Hence in the Book of Genesis we read how Jacob ‘built a monument of stone at the place where God had spoken to him, offering libations there and pouring oil upon it.’ [Gen 35,14]

The Greek writer Euripides describes the dire consequences of failing to include certain gods in libations, and this was indeed a theme common to many of the Greek tragedies.

Whilst the practice continues in various African cultures, as a way of showing homage to ancestors, it also survives in a Christian context. In Cuba, for example remains the custom to pour a drop or two of rum from one’s glass onto the ground whilst saying “para los santos” (for the saints), and in Russia and neighbouring countries vodka is poured onto the grave of the deceased...

So it is that whilst it is the norm for the priest to be offered holy water from the stoop at the entrance to the chapel, this should be done in moderation, so as to avoid spillage on the floor, or water-stained vestments...which might otherwise lead to dire consequences for the sever as per the Greek tragedies...
